Dirty but happy

EVERY TIME it rains, Paul Murelko, 2, has another chance to slog through the huge mud puddle near his home in Hanover Park, Ill. But his parents and neighbors aren't as happy. The big puddle is in the street in front of their homes. They'd like to see it cleaned up. (UPI)

End-war bill may die in conference session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the second time in 10 days, the Senate has voted to cut off all use congressional spending power to force an end to the war.

The latest antiwar legislation was approved 49 to 47 Wednesday night in the form of an amendment to a $20.8 billion military procurement bill.

The arms bill was approved 92 to 5 and sent to a conference committee where it will be reconciled with a House-passed bill.

Although the antiwar amendment was expected to die in conference, Sen. Edward W.

Brooke, R-Mass., said it expressed growing sentiment to use congressional spending power to force an end to the war.

Brooke sponsored the amendment, which would cut off funds within four months after enactment, provided Hanan releases American prisoners of war.

A similar Brooke amendment was approved July 24 as part of the Senate's peace plan.

Brooke declined to speculate about the future of his amendment in the conference, but Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., predicted it would be deleted.

"I don't expect it to stand up in a separate appropriations bill."

Before final passage the Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, that would forbid withdrawal of U.S. forces until the Communists accounted for all American servicemen missing in action.

Congressional sources said the amendment would be voted on in a separate appropriations bill.

His investigation also showed that when Corder was appointed to fill an unexpired sheriff's term, the terms of his employment stipulated that his wife be responsible for prisoner meals.

But several months ago, the county commissioners agreed to change the system when the Corder notified the county they wanted to vacate their court house living quarters and move into their own home.

Corder also said the only county money his wife had received on extradition trips was for meals and lodging, but that those payments had ceased "over a year ago," after charges of improper use of funds had been raised.

Muskie, HHH move out front as possible running mates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edmund S. Muskie, who ran for vice president in 1968, and began this campaign as the frontrunner for the presidential nomination, today was not one of the top prospects to become George S. McGovern's running mate.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who teamed with Muskie in a bitter, futile effort to block McGovern's nomination, has also been sounded out by McGovern on the possibility of taking the second spot this year, but according to sources close to him, indicated he was not interested.

McGovern and Humphrey were seen this morning having breakfast at a corner table for two in the senators' dining room at the Capitol, deep in conversation. And McGovern's political director, Frank Mankiewicz, said the nominee would make his decision "today or tomorrow."

While the Senate went through a series of roll calls on the defense procurement bill Wednesday night, McGovern talked with Humphrey and other liberal colleagues, including Harold R. Hughes of Iowa, Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, John V. Tunney of California and Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois.

Today, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Woods planned McGovern's presence on the floor for adoption of a tough end-the-war amendment to the military hardware bill. Had McGovern been absent, the amendment might have lost.

President stalked

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI) — The personal diary of Arthur Bremer, read at his trial today, revealed he got close to President Nixon six times in Ottawa, Canada, last April but was unable each time to carry out his assassination plot.

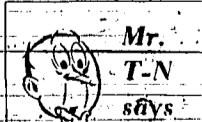

One month later Bremer was arrested at Laurel, Md., and charged with shooting Alabama

Governor George C. Wallace. Bremer wrote in his diary of watching Nixon leave Parliament house in Ottawa April 22. "I had a good view as he went past me—past me for the sixth time—and still alive," Bremer wrote.

He said he was uncertain the bullets from his .38 caliber revolver would go through the glass of Nixon's limousine.

MV food prices dip slightly

TWIN FALLS — After a sharp rise the month before, food prices at Magic Valley supermarket dropped slightly during July.

The overall decline was surprising because at the same time, meat prices registered the largest single-month increase since the Times-News price survey began last September. And produce prices jumped a notch.

The increases in meat and produce prices were overcome by a major decline in the prices of staples—the most important single category for most housewives—dropped three-tenths of one percent.

But during the month, meat prices jumped 6.2 percent.

At the same time, produce prices rose 1.3 percent during the month.

July staple prices—the most important single category for most housewives—dropped 1.7 percent. This decline brought the price of staples down within six-tenths of a percent of September's level.

The Times-News grocery price survey checks the same list of 20 items at five medium-to-large markets. A total of 100 items are checked each month.

The most recent survey was taken Friday. Three of the five stores surveyed raised prices, but the two that cut prices made large enough cuts to overcome the combined increases of the others.

The price survey has revealed two interesting facts about the pattern of Valley grocery store prices:

First, the spread in price between the most expensive and least expensive stores has grown.

As surveyed in September, the most expensive store was about 8.5 percent more costly than the cheapest. A wise shopper could save about 8.5 cents on each dollar through store selection.

But last month the price spread was greater. The most expensive store charged 12.8 percent more for the same items than the cheapest store—and the wise shopper would reap benefits nearly 13 cents on the dollar through store selection.

Second, the stores that were most expensive 10 months ago are no longer in that position.

For example, the most expensive store 10 months ago has price increases to just over one percent, and now is third on the list of five stores in price level.

Meanwhile, the store that had held third position last September now is the most expensive.

Algae producing scum on Snake

TWIN FALLS — That scum on the Snake River that looks like an oil slick is really made up of microscopic plants.

Dr. Lee Stokes, chief of the water pollution control section of the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health, said today examination of samples from the Snake River near Twin Falls show the scum to be algae growth.

He said the algae type, a dinoflagellate, is highly mobile, moving in the surface during sunlight and beneath the surface in periods of darkness, explaining its mysterious appearance in the afternoons.

Attention was first drawn to the algae following reports of an oil slick on the river.

US, Cong reject offers

PARIS (UPI) — The Viet Cong and the United States refused today to accept each other's peace plans, leaving the 3 1/2 year-old Vietnam peace conference still far from agreement.

The negotiators, in their speeches released to newsmen before the closed international conference hall, did not refer to the private meeting

Tuesday in Paris between U.S. Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and top Hanoi negotiators.

In the 153rd semi-public session of the conference today, deadlock remained. The Viet Cong denounced President Nixon's May 8 peace proposal as "unacceptable...unreasonable...unrealistic."

McClure mailing draws Davis fire

Thursday, August 3, 1973 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 3

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Democratic Senate candidate William E. (Bud) Davis Wednesday accused Congressman James McClure of using his Congressional mailing privileges to campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Completing his final campaign swing through northern Idaho, Davis said several thousand McClure newsletters were mailed to Idahoans under Congressional members' free mailing privileges, thus "depriving the postal service and, in fact, the taxpayers of thousands of dollars."

In other political action Wednesday, Senate candidate Byron Johnson, celebrating his 35th birthday in Boise, said no federal candidate should be allowed to run for office if he is 70 years of age or older.

"Our national legislative processes are now roadblocked by committee chairmen in their 70's and 80's who haven't had a new thought for decades," he said.

Former Idaho Governor Robert E. Smylie, a Republican aspirant for the U.S. Senate, Wednesday charged that the campaign expenditures act of 1971 has been "openly flouted; even by some who voted for its passage."

"Campaign expenditures this year have been nothing less than outrageous," Smylie said. "The amount already spent by two candidates, McClure and Wegner, have been enough to start a small bank in business."

Rose Bowman said in American Falls Wednesday that no issue has been more prominent in her discussions with Idaho voters than a general feeling of frustration and powerlessness.

"The people of Idaho and the United States are searching for creative ways to make their voices heard in the decisions which immediately touch their lives," the Boise Senate hopeful said.

Mrs. Bowman said she would propose legislation in the Senate to establish direct election of the president and a national primary system to determine party nominees.

Republican George Hansen said Wednesday that Idaho's young people are just as concerned as experienced voters about the high cost of living, high taxes, welfare abuses and the increasing role of the federal government in their lives.

"Idahoans of all ages are saying that it's time to voice a resounding 'no' to the expanding Washington bureaucracy," he said in Boise.

Elsewhere on the political scene, Idaho Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said "if the tax burden were fairly shared, the Idaho taxpayer could have his federal income tax bill reduced by nearly $300."

Campaigning in Lewiston Wednesday, Park said, "If we close some of the most obvious tax loopholes, and the rich and the huge corporations were forced to pay their fair share, we could have a 43 per cent reduction in the present tax rates without a loss to the treasury."

Republican Congressional candidate Wayne Kidwell said Wednesday the 1972 housing act, now pending in Congress, could "severely cripple" the building industry in Idaho.

The new act could ruin the industry in Idaho and other small states that rely on the free enterprise system to furnish private housing construction," he told the Boise board of Realtors.

Robert Purcell, another Republican hopeful for First District Congress, told a Nampa farm group Wednesday that when agriculture suffers, so does Idaho, since farming is the state's main economic industry.

"The flight of the farmer is getting desperate," Purcell said. "Everything that affects him is being hit from his increased production costs and marketing costs to outrageously high property taxes."

Purcell said to remove all government agricultural programs would benefit only the large, profitable farms, at the same time destroying the small and medium-sized operations in Idaho."

WALLACE (UPI) — John Specht, U.S. Forest Service technician told a hearing before Judge James Towles Wednesday that the dredge operation near Murray has a "muddling effect" on Trail Creek for the past 12 years without a complaint and had been trying to stop the dredge mining act.

Specht and the State of Idaho are complainants seeking a preliminary injunction to halt the operation. "But no one at the state level would even answer my letters," he said.

TF rock concert wins council OK

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council Wednesday approved a request for a day-long rock concert and political rally Sunday at Jaycee Park.

The decision by the council, on a 5-2 vote in a brief special meeting, is contingent upon a check into the backgrounds of the event's promoters, Lucas Hess and Don Warren.

The decision by the council to grant an entertainment license to the pair means that the two promoters must purchase the license, at a fee of $5, post a $200 bond to protect the city against possible extra expenses incurred as a result of the event and purchase liability insurance.

Hess and Warren had announced plans earlier this week for the Hiroshima Bomb Drop Rock Concert and said they had issued invitations to speak to all major candidates for state wide office, as well as local candidates. They also said they had signed four rock and roll bands to appear at the park during the 10 hour event, and were negotiating with a fifth.

The "Hits and Misses" group will not be at the rockfest, Bobby Jones, Peter, said today. The band is from Filer and Twin Falls and not Shoshone as reported earlier.

The concert is scheduled to begin Sunday noon at the Jaycee Park. Hess said today the admission charge had been lowered from $2.50 to $2.

Councilmen Winston Jones and Stephen Lincoln cast the dissenting votes at the council meeting. But both men said today they were not opposed in principle to the combination political rally and rock music package. They agreed, however, that the two promoters would be unlikely to achieve their objective of presenting large numbers of candidates to the audience.

"It appears there are going to be very few candidates there. I didn't think the political motives of the program were going to be accomplished. I personally didn't think we wanted to hold a 10 hour rock festival without accomplishing the political motives," Jones said.

East Idaho river study scheduled

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UPI) — Army Engineers are planning for a comprehensive study of the Henry's Fork and Teton River Basin in Idaho and Wyoming, the fourth environmental survey in the northwest by that agency since 1970.

Earlier, the engineers contracted for similar studies on the lower Clearwater River in northern Idaho, the Big Wood River and the Snake River in Oregon.

Congress has authorized the corps to make the Henry's Fork and Teton River Basin Study. In fiscal year 1972, $10,000 was appropriated to begin the study of water-related problems and needs. An additional $2,500 was

The Doves Hurt

It's difficult sometimes for the most astute American observer to understand American political actions and reactions which may explain the inability of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to grasp the fact that the desire of the people of the United States to stop the fighting in Indochina does not mean that they will vote to cut and run.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the peace talks, had the gall to write in April to each member of Congress urging them to force President Nixon to pull out, an act that predictably outraged members of both parties.

That she learned nothing from the experience was shown by her recent appeal from Havana to the American people.

"When the U.S. government stops the war, removes its troops and stops supporting the Saigon government," she said in a broadcast, "the Vietnamese people will be disposed to free all prisoners of war." Please note that she did not say they would free them, only that they would be disposed to do so.

Meantime, the Paris talks show the real stumbling block to a negotiated peace is the Communist insistence upon removal of President Thieu of South Vietnam.

Both sides agreed the political future of South Vietnam should be determined by the Vietnamese. The United States has proposed a cease fire to be followed by an internationally supervised presidential election in South Vietnam in which the Viet Cong would participate. Withdrawal of American forces would follow release of war prisoners held by Hanoi and not depend upon the whim of the communists.

The Viet Cong are seeking to win control of South Vietnam at the peace table rather than take their chances in an election.

That they have been encouraged by American doves is beyond question.

As one American official at Paris said: "They want us to do for them what they have never been able to do for themselves — remove the South Vietnamese government." Nevertheless, he expressed the hope for a settlement by October.

Since President Thieu would step down before the proposed election, there is no substance in Hanoi's insistence that the U.S. oust him.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The inexorable division of Tennessee Democrats into a white party preoccupied with state politics and a black party representing the state in national politics, a trend accelerated by the McGovern takeover in Miami Beach, is typified by state treasurer Tom Wiseman.

Wiseman, 41 and a comer in state politics, is a Southern liberal with a progressive record and past ties with the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. As a loyalist, he will vote for Sen. George McGovern for the state's black minority, helped President. But he has not yet formally endorsed him and may never do so. Instead, Wiseman is concentrating on reelection to the Democratic legislature.

That emphasis is prudent for reasons other than that Wiseman is elected by the legislature. Close association with the McGovern campaign would not help Wiseman's chances for governor in 1974. Indeed, other white liberal Democrats here show no enthusiasm for the national ticket. The McGovern campaign, therefore, must rely on the state's black minority, helped hastened in Tennessee by McGovern's nomination.

Actually, Democratic

nominees for President long have had trouble in Tennessee (with Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964, Rep. Fulton — only Democratic winner here — campaigned hard for the national ticket; he will not this mid-1960s, however, Democrats

One Kidney

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am enclosing 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "Your Kidneys: Facts You Need to Know," but I also have a special question:

Does a person with one kidney have a shortened life span? My fiancee had one taken out seven years ago, when he was 11. I am going to marry him sooner than is planned if he has only a short time to live. He talks as though he may die in about five years.

Refrigerate though. Don't leave at room temperature, not because of botulism, but because of salmonella, a more common germ by far.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several months ago I had a breast removed, and feel as though half my body was cut off. Is there such a thing as a breast transplant? — J.W.

Among other things, the transplant of an organ requires an accessible blood supply. When this can be provided by reconnecting a small number of severed blood vessels, that's fine.

The breast, however, is supplied by a very large number of small vessels instead of a few large ones. For another problem, degeneration of fatty tissues, which make up most of the breast, would leave you worse off than you are. I'm sorry, but to my knowledge breast transplants are not possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend that not only cooks with olive oil but also drinks a lot of it. I said it will soften the intestines. Please print if there are any after effects of consuming a lot of olive oil. — M.S. M.J.H.

It won't "soften the intestines." But olive oil is high in calories, so if your friend consumes as much as you indicate, I dare say she's fat.

As to drinking it, I don't know what other harm there could be, but my own reaction is ouch. Doesn't sound tasty to me.

MR. SPECTATOR

All About August

Scientists say that Dog Days are due to the "Bermuda High" — a pressure system of air that is warmed over the equator during the winter and moves north and west as the summer advances. Moving northward, the air picks up moisture and the heat of August plus the moisture results in sultry and hot days.

The term "Dog Days" comes from Sirius, the Dog Star, the brightest star in the heavens. Oddly, it is visible only during the winter. Sirius rises and sets in the daytime during the summer.

August may not be the most popular month but in nature's master plan it is a pivotal period. Twice in each turning year, natural forces seem to pause before the two major climatic changes. In February, and again in the eighth month, there comes a period of brooding quietness and waiting expectancy. But beneath the apparent quiet and cessation of the basic rhythms that regulate the flowering world, great forces are following the patterns laid down in ancient aeons.

Summer may look and act tired. The green of the leaves is faded and the grasses on sun-drenched hillsides have changed green stems to tan and amber. But the corn is pushing toward maturity.

Stand beside a cornfield on a hot, quiet, star-seeded night and you can hear the corn grow. Stand on a hillside on a peaceful August evening and in the quietness of the night you can feel a lushness and a sense of maturity of year. Mr. Spectator has tried it and has heard.

Behind the lassitude and brooding and heat, profound and basic transformations are taking place. To those who are sensitive to nature's ordered program, August is an integral part of the turning year.

And with August now here and tentative preparations already under way to reopen schools and launch the football season, can the approach of winter be far away? Yes and no.

Imminence, or lack of it, of the approach of milder weather depends on many factors, one of them being the sort of winter 1972-73 will be. A severe winter makes its appearance earlier than a mild winter, on the average. But this is another of those facets of weather that cannot be depended upon. It is not too early for amateur weather prophets to make tentative surveys of the signs and report on their findings.

But to date nary a one has ventured forth with a forecast. Surely the cult of amateur weather seers is not a vanishing breed.

BRUCE BIASSET

Picking The VP

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A glaring lesson of the Thomas Eagleton affair is that, despite all pretense to the contrary, we still don't pick our vice presidential nominee with the necessary great care and thought.

After John F. Kennedy was assassinated, many shocked politicians in both parties were heard to say that this tragedy underscored the need to choose vice presidential prospects not for short-range political value but strictly on their qualifications for the White House.

Whereupon Sen. Barry Goldwater, in naming New York Rep. William Miller as his running mate less than a year later, seemed to offer an explanation only this: "He gives Lyndon Johnson fits."

And Johnson himself, picking

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, was reported to be less concerned with Humphrey's established talent and experience than with heavy pressures from the Democratic party's liberal wing.

Humphrey's 1968 choice, Sen. Edmund Muskie, came out of a typical pressure-cooker situation, with the bleary-eyed presidential nominee and his bleary-eyed advisers hastily weighing prospects.

President Nixon in 1968 did in fact take more time in choosing the mid-sized names for weeks and had actually chosen Spiro Agnew at least 10 days before the Republican convention at Miami Beach.

Yet, curiously, he felt it necessary to go through the accepted charade of appearing to choose his men by listening to volumes of last-minute advice

Furthermore, Nixon's judgment was heavily political. So now we come to Eagleton, another product of high-pressure haste, culled from a list of 30 names.

The senator says he might have told Sen. George

McGovern of his medical history but that he did not have time to think on that "hectic day." McGovern's campaign manager, Gary Hart, says it took nearly a week to assemble

all the details of all Eagleton's record of hospitalization and treatment for nervous exhaustion and fatigue.

These utterances can only be put down as confessions of laxity. Any observer knows that the California delegate's challenge put the McGovern forces under great strain in the final days leading to his nomination. But it does not make sense that they did not detach one or two able men to sift out vice presidential names and investigate, with deliberate care, the top choices.

It is a simple fact that the United States government does a vastly more thorough job of investigating the backgrounds of top and even middle echelon personnel for the federal bureaucracy.

By contrast, we seem generally to select men who might be asked to lead the nation with not much more care than some might use in picking a dinner companion.

On the afternoon of July 13, when he was chosen, Thomas Eagleton was only a hazy figure emerging from the fog of a dream-birth. There can be no alibi for such fuzzy choosing.

It could be, you know, that with the facts in hand you will be able to alter your fiance's pessimistic outlook.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell us more about botulism. My wife insists on covering any leftovers with plastic film, etc. I tell her foods need air to stay unpoisonous. — T.Y.

I'm afraid you're barking up the wrong tree. It is true that botulism spores — if present — begin with — proliferate in an airless environment. Also botulism spores are destroyed if food is adequately cooked at 212.

It's not "soften the intestines." But olive oil is high in calories, so if your friend consumes as much as you indicate, I dare say she's fat.

As to drinking it, I don't know what other harm there could be, but my own reaction is ouch. Doesn't sound tasty to me.

PETROLEUM from the new pipeline and slow-but-steady delivery of supplies from Communist ships off North Vietnam's coast and down truck routes from China could bring in enough supplies and equipment to enable Hanoi's armies to make another major series of attacks in September or October, if the Politburo chooses.

Hanoi's determination stands out in sharp contrast to what seems to be the mood in Peking and Moscow. The Russians have bluntly told fellow Communists they cannot afford a confrontation with the United States at this time and don't intend to take the chance of an eyeball to eyeball meeting over Vietnam. They pass the buck for Hanoi's current supply difficulties, blaming them on China's noncooperative attitude.

The Chinese, in turn, insist the fault is not theirs. Peking's diplomats privately argue that Russia has the navy and that Soviet minesweepers should be in Haiphong harbor, clearing that port for the arms resupply Hanoi requires. These men insist there is little more Peking can do.

BERRY'S WORLD

"The new international road sign system is going to work out much better than the old. Now I won't have to stop and think which is my right and which is my left."

Death toll climbs in Irish war

BELFAST (UPI) — A booby-trapped oil drum — left on a border road — exploded today, killing a British soldier trying to disarm the bomb. Another person died from wounds he suffered Monday.

The two deaths raised to 491 the death toll in three years of Ulster violence.

The soldier, the first to die since the army occupied the Roman Catholic barricaded "no go" areas Monday, found the oil drum sitting beside a rural road about 15 miles south of Londonderry.

As he leaned over to investigate, a charge in the barrel exploded in his face.

A victim of the Claudy car bomb-blast Monday died in a hospital today, raising the toll in those explosions to seven dead. Seven other persons remain in critical condition from the blasts in the town 10 miles east of Londonderry.

A source in the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) said the IRA planned to continue its bomb campaign, but continue guerrilla activity against the British troops.

The source said the 26 shots fired at troops in Belfast and Londonderry Wednesday was part of Provisional strategy to "concentrate on low-level guerrilla activity" firing at identified military targets. Soldiers claimed they hit five of the gunmen but said there were no casualties among themselves.

"We don't think (Roman) Catholics will stand for anymore 'bloody Fridays,' the source said. This was a reference to the July 21 wave of IRA bombings in Belfast that killed nine people and injured more than 100.

The source said the Provisionals' main objective is to "keep the pot boiling" with sniper attacks on soldiers in the belief that Catholics in former IRA strongholds occupied throughout Northern Ireland Monday by the army will align themselves again with the Provisionals.

In the day's only other significant violence, snipers firing from the Catholic Short Strand enclave of East Belfast slightly wounded two Protestant workers at an engineering plant in the area. The incident touched off fighting between Protestants and Catholics in the district before troops moved in and restored order.

Wednesday was the second consecutive day in which there were no fatalities from violence in the province since troops occupied IRA strongholds.

In Londonderry's Catholic Bogside area, troops discovered a ton of explosives and bomb-making materials in an abandoned house.

The army said 53 firearms, 11,300 rounds of ammunition, 19 hand grenades and 86 bombs packed with nails and glass were found in homes in the Bogside and Catholic Creggan areas by troops searching the districts.

Political sources said leaders of the Social Democratic and Labor Party, the province's main Catholic opposition party, will meet William Whitelaw, secretary of state for Northern Ireland, for talks Monday on a political solution to the territory's troubles.

Tomatoes dumped

THOUSANDS OF tomatoes were dumped at Guernsey in the Channel Islands Wednesday because of the British dock strike. The island produces 350 tons of tomatoes per day and thousands of tons have been wasted. (UPI)

Tomatoes rot as dockmen strike

LONDON (UPI) — Crudely unscrupulous to get the docks written signs before the mountains of rotting tomatoes lining the roads of Guernsey told the tale of Britain today.

"Help yourself," they said. With a nationwide dock strike now in its seventh day, Britain was on the verge of becoming fruitless and the foreign and offshore farmers supplying her bankrupt.

A Norwegian freighter caught by the walkout prepared to put to sea to dump millions of bananas and docks though Britain reeked with the stench of huge mounds of rotting fruits and vegetables.

The channel Island of Guernsey was one of the hardest hit areas. Farmers there have already dumped more than 1,000 tons of their bumper tomato crops onto rubbish heaps and more truckloads were continuously arriving.

With wry humor, the farmers erected their signs and prepared for a hard year ahead.

Guernsey authorities, who unsuccessfully appealed to the dockworkers to make an exception with their harvest, said the loss of the tomato crop, the island's biggest money earner, will plunge the island's economy into dire straits.

Because of looming shortages of feed grains and perishable produce, the government has considered declaring a state of sponsored committee looking into the longshoremen's demands.

The dockers walked off their jobs to demand all cargo handling jobs in the nation's growing container depots. Until now, many of these containers have been packed at inland warehouses and loaded onto ships by the dockers' individual units.

In a related development union and business leaders agreed Wednesday to set up a 12-man group to arbitrate major industrial disputes.

Wallace movement afoot at American Party convention

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — soon as possible.

The American Party opened its national convention today with a movement still afoot to draft paralyzed Alabama Gov. George Wallace for president.

Rep. John G. Schmitz, a Republican lame duck congressman from California and a member of the John Birch Society, was considered the front-runner for the nomination. But Wallace backers still maintained their draft movement would sweep the convention on Friday when his name was put into nomination.

Tom Turnipseed, a Columbia, S.C., lawyer behind the Wallace draft, implied Wallace would be unable to resist accepting the nomination if it were offered him by the delegates.

National Party Chairman T. Coleman Andrews Jr., of Richmond, Va., was to keynote the convention today, after which reports of the credentials committee and platform committee were to be considered.

The proposed platform included an anti-busing plank and a pledge to "vigorously" oppose the Vietnam war in order to bring home all American soldiers and prisoners of war as soon as possible.

The platform also favored withdrawal of the United States from its 42 treaties and 19 agreements with foreign nations and the United Nations.

Meals slated for oldsters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has set a goal of serving 10,000 subsidized meals five days a week to needy elderly persons by Oct. 1. It wants to expand the number to 250,000 by next July 1.

The program, which was approved by Congress, will allow some aged persons to use food stamps for the first time toward payment for home delivered meals. However, the law calls for most of the hot meals to be served to persons aged 60 and older in group settings.

"It will not only improve the health of the elderly but will do much to help in ending the isolation of older people from community activities," said Health Education and Welfare (HEW) Secretary Elliot L. Richardson Tuesday.

Instructions were sent by HEW to its regional offices on how to implement the National Nutrition Program. The targets are 10,000 meals daily by Oct. 1, 40,000 by Jan. 1, 130,000 by next April 1 and 250,000 by next July 1. Only about 3,500

Talks slated in Helsinki

LONDON (UPI) — Nations of East and West Europe have agreed in principle to open preparatory talks in Helsinki on a European security conference with American and Canadian participation after the U.S. presidential elections this fall, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The Soviet-led Warsaw Pact countries also has been consulting. Diplomatic sources said they reached agreement on the Nov. 22 date during the meeting of bloc leaders with Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev in the Crimea earlier this week.

There is basic understanding among members of the NATO and Warsaw blocs on some of the outlines of the agenda each side plans to advance when their envoys begin the Helsinki conference.

All East and West European countries, the neutrals, and the United States and Canada have been asked. If all goes well, the security conference itself could

Algeria considers returning ransom

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algerian authorities said Wednesday they would consider a request to return $1 million in ransom money taken Tuesday from the hijackers of a Delta Airlines DC8 jetliner.

An Algerian Information Ministry official said the money, in $50 and $100 bills, was "under seal" and "in a safe place" while the government deliberated whether to return it to the airline.

The U. S. government asked Algeria to return the money and prosecute the hijackers.

Algerian authorities questioned the hijackers — three men and two women who brought along three children — after the jet landed at Dar El Beida airport from Boston. The hijackers asked for political asylum and were taken to an unknown destination.

El Moudjahid, the semi-official Algerian newspaper, said the request was being given "a very thorough study." In a similar case last June,

Republicans promise interesting convention

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even though there's no suspense left, Dole added, referring to the Republicans, who still promised Wednesday to put on an "interesting" convention, to replace Sen. later this month in Miami. Thomas F. Eagleton who Beach and said inornate withdrew.

Dole and Herman said plans would not be the only ones to get a chance to watch it on television.

"I guess you would say ours will be a prime time convention," said Party Chairman Robert Dole, referring to the Democratic convention sessions which ran most of the night.

Dole and Richard Herman, the party chairman said vice-chairman of the GOP, sessions will be held afternoons and evenings Monday and Wednesday, no session would Tuesday and on Wednesday, run later than 10:30 p.m. EDT.

And contrary to suggestions, they promised the convention would not be bore, despite the fact that everybody knows President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will make up the ticket again.

"I could give you their names right now," Dole joked at a light-hearted news conference on arrangements for the GOP sessions.

For openers, Dole said he thought it appropriate to remind everybody that the Republicans do plan to hold a national convention in Miami Beach Aug. 21-23.

"And we hope the Democrat-potential of television. In any event he and Dole said unauthorized persons will not get into the convention floor.

A LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY

The Sheriff's department is made up of the Sheriff and 18 deputies, 13 of whom are men and 5 are women. The office maintains a 24 hour-a-day service.

I am 53 years old, married, and have raised 3 children in Twin Falls County. I have had 22 years of law enforcement experience in Twin Falls County and hope to work another 12 years.

I am a member of the Idaho Sheriff's Association, Idaho Police Officers Association, International Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association, the National Jail Association, the Masonic Lodge A.F. & A.M., the Order of the Elks, Veteran of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The Sheriff and his wife will vacate the fourth floor apartment and kitchen in the County Court house by November 1, 1972. Arrangements for this change were made with the County Commissioners in the later part of 1971. These changes are being made for 2 reasons:

No. 1 — As most of you know, Mrs. Corder inherited the job of preparing meals for prisoners being detained in the County Jail when I was appointed Sheriff in 1967. On several occasions, this has turned out to be a political football and we no longer want to be involved with the feeding after November 1, 1972. The Commissioners have made arrangements for the meals to be catered by a local restaurant.

No. 2 — For the past several years we have needed better and larger quarters for the juvenile detention. Construction of two large cells is to start around the 1st of November this year. When completed, it will accommodate 10 male and 10 female juveniles at one time. The remainder of the apartment then can be made into new adult cells; if and when needed. The six existing adult cells, which will accommodate 50 prisoners, have all been remodeled in the past 4½ years, and each year they are repainted with the trustee help.

The latter part of 1971, a 4 room visiting area was constructed on the fourth floor that will accommodate 12 visitors at one time. This has worked exceptionally well for security reasons and for the defense attorneys to visit their clients in privacy.

In the past 4½ years, the deputies have attended training schools totaling 237 school hours, covering such courses as Administration, Bomb and Bomb handling, Riot Control, Urban Crime and Extremist groups, Organized Crime, Basic and Advanced Juvenile course, Basic and Advanced Finger Print courses (latent and classification), Basic and Advanced Felony investigation, Advanced Scientific Investigation and Physical Evidence, Advanced Officers Refresher Course, Sex Crimes, Narcotic and Dangerous Drugs, Traffic and Traffic Engineering, Red Cross, and Photography.

The Sheriff and all male deputies except one, have passed the Idaho Peace Officers Standard & Training (POST) test and hold Certificates for same — 3 advanced, Certificates, 2 Intermediate, and the rest have Basic Certificates. These certificates originate from the State of Idaho Peace Officers Standard and Training Program organized in 1958 under the guidance and sponsorship of the Idaho Police Officers Association, the F.B.I., The Association of Idaho Cities and the Idaho State University. The only cost for these courses are travel food, and lodging, occasionally a small cost for entry fee.

In addition to the police training courses, one Deputy that handles most of our juvenile cases was permitted to work a shift that would not interfere with a two year course he was taking at C.S.I., majoring in Psychology and Criminal Inv. One took a course at C.S.I. in Photography and Sociology. One deputy took a course in speech and speed reading. All of these 3 courses were financed by the officers. Also, employees in the Twin Falls Sheriff's Department have a total of 173 years law enforcement experience, 48 years of Military experience, and 12½ years of military intelligence experience.

The Sheriff Department have organized a 92-man volunteer, Search and Rescue team, and equipment, including planes, 4-wheel Drive Pickup, Cycles, Horses, Sheriff Mounted Posse, Idaho Civil Air Patrol, Snow Mobiles, and Trailer sleds, 4-wheel Drive Ambulance & first aid equipment. The Sheriff Department has a County owned boat and trailer equipped with dragging equipment and two complete skin diving outfit.

4 years ago, we promised to update the Sheriff's department and jail by hard work and education. I believe we have kept this promise.

If re-elected, we will enforce the law, perform all other duties required of the Sheriff's department. We will always upgrade our department in an effort to keep up with the fast change of time; at the least possible cost to the tax payer.

A double effort will be applied to all crimes that appear to be on the increase.

We will work for legislation to maintain local control of local government and maintain our constitutional rights to keep and bear arms. We will follow generally the same pattern as we have in the past, always searching for ways to give you better law enforcement. We will continue to buy all supplies used by the Sheriff's Department in Twin Falls County, if available to us here.

We have one of the best places in the world to live and with your co-operation, we can keep it that way.

I sincerely believe we have organized one of the best Departments in the State, dedicated, capable and willing to serve you for the next 4 years. I am not a politician or social climber, just a plain policeman, interested in good, honest law enforcement.

Your vote will be appreciated August 8, 1972 on the Republican Ballot.

Thanks

Bob Smylie was a Good Governor

BOISE (UPI) — There is a possibility that State Auditor Joe Williams will combine his office with the state office building just across the street from the statehouse.

Williams' staff is split with some members working in the Statehouse and others in the State Office Building.

Robert Lenahan, director of administrative services for the state, has sent a letter to the State Auditor's office concerning the move.

Williams had announced several weeks ago that he no longer desired to combine his offices because of "opposition" from other departments concerning the move.

Williams' record of performance in public service is unsurpassed in Idaho history.

During his years as governor, Idaho made unprecedented progress in education, highway construction, state park development, environmental improvement and pollution control, public health programs, permanent funding for needed building, water resource development, public school support, tax reform and conservation programs.

No other candidate knows more about Idaho's problems. No other candidate has the necessary experience and proven ability to get things done in solving Idaho's problems. No other candidate has the national stature and the respect of leaders in Washington, D.C., whose

Collectors items

FERNDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's withdrawal as the Democratic vice presidential candidate has sparked an unexpected boom in the sale of campaign buttons, bumper stickers and pins bearing his name. Votes Unlimited Corp. had made half-a-million such items and "we were worried we would have to eat this stuff" when Eagleton withdrew, David Ross, president of the parent company Ross Industries, said Tuesday.

"We were amazed by the mail and phone calls today," Ross said.

The entire inventory has been sold and another 100,000 McGovern-Eagleton buttons are being printed, he said.

"One woman told me 'Nobody is going to get these Eagleton buttons from me — they'll be worth a fortune,'" Ross said.

Some ordering the materials are doing so in lots of 1,000 or more, he said. Apparently, the Eagleton campaign materials are expected to become collector's items.

US and Polish officials meet

By HOWARD A. TYNER

WARSAW (UPI) — U.S. Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson and members of his 20-member delegation met for two hours with Polish trade officials Wednesday to try to set up a Polish-American trade commission.

Earlier, Peterson met for nearly an hour with Jozef Inkowski, acting chairman of the Planning Commission.

Peterson arrived Tuesday for a two-day stopover enroute to Washington from Moscow. He is in Poland "to lay the broad groundwork" for the trade commission, which President Nixon agreed to establish during his visit here in May.

The Poles exported more goods to the United States — $107.2 million worth last year — than any other country in eastern Europe.

The main thrust of U.S.-Polish trade lies in agricultural products and raw materials, which Poland wants to be expanded to include more technical and industrial wares.

"This (present) structure (of bilateral trade) shows that there are still big and non-utilized possibilities for a sensible expansion of trade exchanges between Poland and the United States," the Polish news agency PAP said.

The agency said Poland especially wanted to sell more engineering, chemical and pharmaceutical goods to the United States in return for more American machinery, licenses and industrial know-how.

PAP said if Washington dropped some trade restrictions on Polish imports and if the two sides could work out other details, Polish-American trade could be doubled "within one or two years at least."

Seat belt use law proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Transportation Department proposed Tuesday that states enact laws requiring motorists to buckle their seat belts and prohibit the removal or modification of a vehicle's safety-related equipment.

The proposals, which will be implemented next year unless the department is persuaded otherwise, were made under the Highway Safety Act of 1968, which specifies that states not in compliance with federal safety regulations must forfeit 10 per cent of their federal road building funds.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said in announcing the proposals, "Most of the current standards were issued in June, 1967. Since then, experience and research have produced new knowledge and insight into traffic crash countermeasures."

White House staff to help in probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has instructed members of the White House staff and workers on the Committee for the Re-Election of the President to cooperate with investigations of the attempt to bug Democratic National Headquarters, the White House said today.

Deputy Press Secretary George Warren said, "The President's views is that all those who are asked to cooperate should cooperate."

Warren declined to comment directly on the announcement that the General Accounting Office (GAO) planned to audit the books of Nixon's Re-election Committee following publication of a report that a $25,000 check intended for the Committee was diverted to the bank account of a man implicated in the break-in at Democratic Headquarters.

McGovern deep into quagmire of problems

By RAYMOND LAHIR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eagleton affair pushed Sen. George S. McGovern still deeper into the quagmire of problems he must escape if he is to push President Nixon out of the White House.

It raises questions about his judgment and his staff, already subject to sniping within his own divided Democratic party. It also raises doubts about him as a man of decision — doubts that hampered the late Adlai E. Stevenson in his two presidential campaigns.

Since the Democratic National Convention, McGovern has lost two weeks which might have been spent partly in reining after his strenuous drive for the presidential nomination and partly in planning the autumn campaign.

He showed unexpected mastery of the party's reformed nominating procedures in his convention victory. But was he too hasty in picking Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate? Without learning of Eagleton's hospitalization and psychiatric treatment of nervous exhaustion? Was his staff lax in exploring such questions?

After the disclosure, McGovern declared his full support for Eagleton, who followed the quo-and-clung-to-it-even-after McGovern began showing signs of wavering under pressure from the "Eagleton must go" Democrats. McGovern came out of the convention with more trouble than he needed within his own party. The 1972 election should be subject — that theory to even greater strains than in 1968, when shoddy aside by the Truman was helped in by reformers and were denied number of states by strong seats at the convention. After giving up service support of the ticket, many are expected to give little attention to the presidential campaign.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council voted to endorse no candidate for president, although its affiliated unions are free to set their own course. The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) has become an increasingly important part of the Democratic party organization for its voter registration and get-out-the-vote drives but will concentrate this year on electing friendly members of Congress.

McGovern's left-of-center position on welfare, tax reform, defense, foreign policy and other issues — some still to be refined — have caused a number of Democrats to be uneasy and even worried about their own political future.

Many candidates for Congress and state offices will run their own campaigns to fit their own situations and to pretend that there is no presidential election Nov. 7.

McGovern's pro-convention youth corps may help him but its power in a national election is still to be tested.

It used to be said that the Democrats could flail one another with clubs for three and a half years, then unite and win national elections. Harry S. Truman was a surprise victory in 1948 — despite defections creating a new right wing party in the South and a left wing party in the North.

Then he needed within his own party. Established-party leaders were offended that they were more offended than in 1948, when shoddy aside by the Truman was helped in by reformers and were denied number of states by strong least 270 electoral votes. The expected turnout is around 65 million, possibly more.

The voting age population will be about 140 million, including 24 million, 18 to 24, who were ineligible to vote in 1968.

McGovern needs all the help he can get from the new voters to prove there is a coalition of discontent composed of a voting majority eager to reject the conventional politics of the Nixon administration.

In a close election Nov. 7, the winner will need about 45 million votes or more in a configuration of states with a

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am male, 45, married, and the father of four children. My wife and I have been married for 23 years, and we hope to be married for at least 25 more.

Abby, so often I read letters in your column from distraught wives and husbands (mostly wives) who have just learned that their spouse has been "unfaithful." Then they describe how "hurt" they are, and wonder if they can ever "forgive" him.

Abby, how stupid can these people be? I think I speak for 99.9 per cent of all red-blooded American men when I say I'd hate to be married for 50 years and never have sex with a woman other than my wife.

I am a devoted husband. I love my wife, and nothing will change that. And having sex away from home is not being "unfaithful" to her. It doesn't take anything away from our home life. If anything, it adds a little spice, and at our ages we can use some. My wife enjoys a change once in a while, too. We've even talked about it. It isn't the kind of sex which involves love. It's purely a physical desire satisfied. It's like a good game of golf or tennis.

I am good to my wife and family. I deprive them of nothing. I don't squander my money on other women. I don't rent them apartments or buy them gifts. If I see another woman it's because I enjoy her and she enjoys me.

Now, Abby, you tell me, who is hurt?

HAPPY AT HOME

DEAR HAPPY: In your case, nobody. But not everyone shares your "find your wife's attitude about sex. To some, sex without love is hollow, cheap, and meaningless. And what assurance have you that while you're gathering "the spice" one of your playmates won't become emotionally involved with you? Or with her? It's happened, you know, and there are a lot of broken hearts and broken homes to prove it. Better arrange a good game of golf or tennis. The stakes aren't as high.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law recently invited me and some other women over to see her new home.

I had already sent her a very nice house gift, but I never like to go anywhere empty-handed, so I brought her a box of my favorite chocolates, which I know she liked, too.

When I arrived I handed it to her. She thanked me for it and put it aside. A while later I hinted that I wished she'd open the candy. She ignored the hint. Finally I said, "Why don't you open my candy and pass it around?"

She said, "I'm serving a nice snack. I'm saving the candy for later."

After the snack, I said, "Well, is it late enough to open my candy?"

She laughed and said, "It's not YOUR candy. It's MINE. And I prefer not to open it right now."

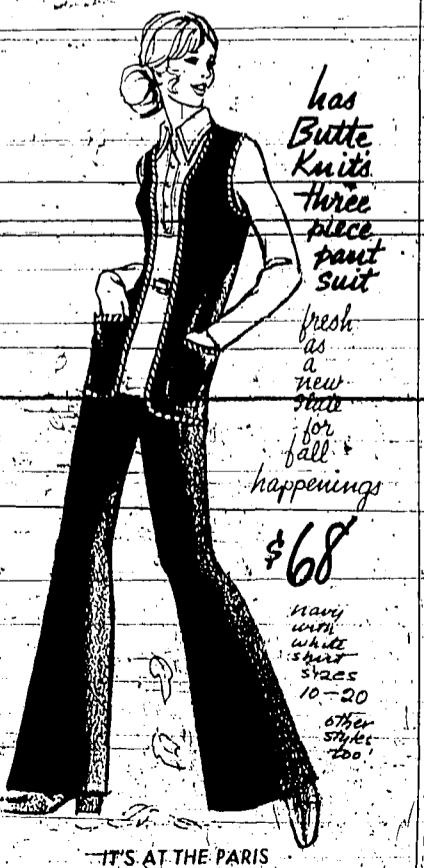

I let the matter drop. Tell me, was she rude or not?

Wasn't the candy mine? I brought it.

DEAR ANNOYED: The candy was yours until you gave it to her. Then it became hers. After she ignored your hints you should have given up.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOWHERE TO TURN": Yes, a 12-year-old girl most certainly CAN become pregnant. If you positively refuse to go to your parents, please call your local PLANNED PARENTHOOD office and tell them that ABBY promised they would counsel you.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 4470, L. A., CALIF. 90044 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Stan Barth gave the lesson on fitting, and showing the student should have led a low diamond from dummy and played his eight spot. This might cost him an overtrick but at the same time it would have insured his contract.

West would have won the trick with the 10 or nine.

Should he lead a club, South would score his king. Should he lead a heart, the student would ruff in dummy and discard his four of clubs, and should he lead back a diamond the student would win with his jack, cash his ace, enter dummy with a trump and discard a club on the king of diamonds.

A Lovelier You

RINGS AROUND THE EYES

By Mary Sue Miller

A. Lovely writes: I have a good tan, but the puffs under my eyes didn't take. They are ghostly white and puffier than ever. Heavy powder base covers the trouble, but it also covers my tan. Your advice, please.

The Answer: Yours is a perennial problem, jokingly called "Owl Eyes." Sunglasses trigger the trouble. You should wear your sunglasses for outdoor activities during the day. Otherwise you will encourage eye strain and squints and wrinkles. But when you sun bathe — deliberately court a tan — you should take off your specs for a period of five minutes from time to time. Twice in the 30-minute period, let's say.

After removing your glasses, be sure to protect the eyelids with balls of damp absorbent cotton. Use water or witch hazel for dampening. Apply sun stick to the under-eye circles, simply to guard against burning or drying the sensitive skin in those areas.

As a result, white circles soon take on color. In the interim, transparent, moisture foundation — a gel perhaps — applied to the entire face, and a tan shade of cream contour shadow smoothed and blended around the circles will camouflage the problem, but not affect the tan.

As for existing puffiness, cold water compresses and eye cream are the best antidotes. Apply the cream at bedtime, the compresses in the morning and immediately after sunning.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control, by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. No airport vote in district 26

BURLEY — The South Idaho Regional Airport Board of Trustees will not sponsor a election for a board member from Legislative District 26.

Most of the district, with the exception of two precincts in Minidoka County, lies within Cassia County. A ruling by the Idaho attorney general's office recently said the airport board could not add its ballot to the punch card voting equipment to be used in Cassia County for the first time in the primary election next Tuesday.

The trustees said in a meeting last week that there was no way the cost of the election could be met. Board members said Wednesday that the election in Cassia County might be scheduled at some time in the near future.

In districts 21, including

Minidoka County, and 23, Jerome and Gooding counties and a portion of Lincoln County, the board elections will be conducted as part of the regular primary election.

In Cassia County incumbent board chairman George Föschler is the only announced candidate. An opinion by attorney Tom Church of Burley said Föschler would retain his board membership by default if no election were staged.

More hopefuls for Jerome job

JEROME — The posse chasing the Jerome County sheriff's office grew to nine today, when Jerome Chief of Police Howard DuBois said he would join the chase.

DuBois, said he was running on a pledge to coordinate the city and county law enforcement departments to improve the police service for the outlying districts of the county and to "upgrade the entire men-of-law enforcement in the areas of Elton, Hazelton and Jerome by eliminating jurisdictional boundaries."

Because he failed to file his candidacy with the Jerome County clerk's office prior to the June filing deadline, DuBois will be a write-in candidate. He said in his announcement, however, that he was running as a Republican.

Others already in the race are Republicans Dennis Robinet, Irving Altman, Jack Purrott, Elton Hall, James Laswell and Boyd Rydalch. Foley Aaer is the lone democrat on the ballot. Another write-in candidate, Paul Whaley, is running without party identification.

In his announcement, DuBois said "In light of the increased costs of law enforcement across the country and the need for more efficient and better qualified law enforcement officials, I have decided to place my name on the candidate list," and promised to cut costs and increase efficiency with his plan to integrate the city and county forces.

DuBois, who was appointed Jerome City chief of police after the City Council refused to rehire former chief C. H. Puntney, cited 17 years of law enforcement experience in announcing his candidacy.

ANDY GARDNER

... asks vote

Blaine write-in asked

HAILEY — Incumbent C. W. (Andy) Gardner will be seeking write-in votes for the Democratic nomination for district 2 Blaine County commissioner.

The Hailey resident was appointed in June to fill the seat vacated by the death of John Fox. During filling, Gardner was in Wyoming on business and was unable to return before the filing deadline.

The candidate said, "If elected, I will work both for and with the people of Blaine County." He said he was interested in the "orderly growth" of the county as well as roads, schools, hospitals and all general county functions.

Gardner is a member of the Blaine County Soil Conservation District and the county cattleman association. He is a former member of the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission.

The write-in candidate will be opposed for the Democratic nomination by Hailey rancher Gary Hibbard. Robert W. Ratto, an East Fork builder, and Russel Horn, a Hailey real estate agent, have filed for the two-year term.

Inspects break

Quick repairs hold down damage from canal break

FILER — A break in the highline canal flooded grain and hay fields Wednesday but was discovered and repaired quickly.

A hole over two feet in diameter was discovered in the canal two miles west and four miles south of Filer by Reuben Filer, a Filer-area farmer.

The break was probably caused by pocket gophers. Foot from the canal bridge and Alfred Peters, canal company about 100 to 125 inches of water were flowing under the canal. The hole was plugged with a canvas dam until canal company. The flooded fields belonged to Mrs. Edna Bailey.

Richfield boy bit by rattler

RICHFIELD — Brad Johnston, 14, Richfield, is recuperating at home after being bitten by a rattlesnake near his home Sunday afternoon. He had gone to the granary in back of his home to pick up a calf bucket about 5 p.m. Sunday when the rattler struck his leg. His mother, Mrs. Jerry Johnston, applied first aid using a snake bite kit she had and then a neighbor, Mrs. Dave Kennison rushed him to Shoshone to Dr. R. G. Neher. The doctor treated him and then took him to St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, where he was released Wednesday.

His father reports that he is getting along fine, and that he just has a stiff leg.

"It's just a question of aesthetics. It looks bad, but it's not serious in terms of a health hazard," he said.

He said some problems are posed for fish. Fish avoid the algae overgrowth because it impairs vision and breathing.

In addition, while the growth produces oxygen during daylight, it consumes oxygen at night. This causes highly fluctuating levels of oxygen in the water, Stokes said.

Stokes said additional samples are being taken by department personnel to determine temperature and chemistry of the water "just for the record."

The proposition will be put before county residents.

It was reported that Richfield would be represented by a Richfield resident serving on the district recreation board.

Members also discussed a Lion's Club auction sale that is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Aug. 19 in Lava Hot Springs.

Lions president Marvin Webb announced that the auction will be conducted by the Messersmith Auction Service.

Webb said that further announcements about the event will be forthcoming.

Burley Kiwanis hear ISU staff

BURLEY — The Idaho State University football coaching staff was guest at the Burley Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting Wednesday at Price's Cafe.

Robert Hilliard, Burley, former football player for ISU, introduced Milton W. (Dubby) Holt, director of athletics. Holt spoke briefly about the minidome.

He invited all the Kiwanis Club members to attend football, basketball and other activities on the campus in the minidome. With Cory Kidd and Von Frazee, both local youths signed at ISU for basketball, the games at ISU will be of greater interest to you as local businessmen," said Holt.

Holt introduced the new head football coach, Bob Griffin, who has served on the ISU staff one year. Griffin came to ISU from University of Rhode Island.

Griffin then introduced other staff members.

The coaching staff presented a film of Wyoming in a game played last season. ISU's first game this year will be with Wyoming on Sept. 9.

The business meeting was conducted by Norman Nelson, vice president. Kiwanis Club members were reminded to turn in their committee reports.

Frank Kearns, county clerk, spoke briefly in regard to the voting machines which will be used for the first time next week in Cassia County. A film was viewed on the correct way to vote using the voting machines.

Assisting with the film showing was Ron Osterhout.

Gooding's annual fair set Monday

GOODING — Gooding County Fair and Rodeo activities begin at 9 p.m. Friday with a dance at the old armory building.

A parade and drill competition are among the first day's events of the annual fair and rodeo Monday through Wednesday. The rodeo will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the fairgrounds.

Proceeds from the queen's dance will be used to help pay for an emergency van for the Gooding Fire Department. Music for the event will be by "September Morn."

The queen and junior princess contestants will be introduced at 10 p.m. and the reigning queen and junior princess, Melody Brown and Angie Robinson, will attend. The new queen and junior princess will be crowned Aug. 9.

The parade, sponsored by the Rotary Club, will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday with seven divisions for children. Included are tricycles and doll buggies, floats (including decorated wagons), bicycles, pets, cowboys and Indians, historical and modern day characters, and comedy. An adult parade will follow at 2 p.m.

The Gooding County Sheriff's Posse will sponsor a precision drill team competition at 8 p.m. Monday at the fairgrounds arena. Junior and senior division entries are invited.

In the two-day rodeo, professional rodeo cowboys will compete in bareback, saddle bronc, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling events.

According to chairman Andrew James, a $1,500 purse has been put up by the Gooding Rodeo Committee to be added to the cowboys' entry fees for the total prize money.

Rodeo entries will be accepted at the rodeo office at Jerry's Lounge until 6 p.m. Monday. Rodeo livestock will be provided by D. A. "Swanny" Kerby, Salt Lake City.

Paul asks bids for trash haul

The candidates for sheriff in Jerome County include six Republicans, one Democrat and one independent.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Jerome County Farm Bureau at 8:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

Moderator will be Bob Sexton, fieldman for the Farm Bureau.

Refreshments will be served.

The candidates for sheriff in

Jerome County include six

Republicans, one Democrat and one independent.

They are seeking the office being vacated by James Burns, veteran Jerome County sheriff who is not asking re-election.

PAUL — The Paul City Council approved a call for bids for a trash-hauling contract during its meeting Wednesday night.

A sample contract which had been drawn up by City Atty. Larry Duff was approved to be used as a basis for the bids. The bids will be opened at the September meeting of the council.

The council discussed the problems of high weeds along railroad property running through the city. It was suggested that the railroad be asked to control the problem or the city will cut the weeds and submit a bill to the railroad.

The bridges will carry Interstate 80N across the Snake River at two points near Glenns Ferry.

One span will cost an estimated $2.7 million and the second will cost an estimated $2.8 million.

The board also directed a cutoff be designed to save 11 miles on U. S. Highway 30 between Lava Hot Springs and Soda Springs.

Known as the Fish Creek cutoff, the road design was shown at a public hearing June 29 in Lava Hot Springs. It would extend over mountains from Lava Hot Springs to Lund, south of Bancroft, and then east to the junction of U. S. 30 and State 34.

Each application for a building permit, when entered at the city hall, allows McClung to confer with the contractor and explain the requirements.

McClung said he has drawn up a detailed outline of the steps to be taken by the contractor, to be taken by the contractor, and presents a copy to each building permit applicant.

The uniform building code as adopted by the city of Paul specifies that ground cannot be broken on a contract, whether it be house or business, until the building permit has been granted by the building inspector.

Each stage of the construction, including verification of the building site, pouring concrete, construction of interior framing and roofing, and installation of electrical and plumbing lines requires an inspection by the building inspector.

The building code stipulates that "absolutely no one may occupy any building until the final inspection is made and passed and a certificate of occupancy is issued by the building inspector."

McClung said one contractor had the law explained in detail to him yet went ahead with the construction without allowing any inspection.

In another case, McClung said, a house now under construction in the Rich subdivision on the southern edge of the city is nearly finished, though no building permit was issued due to an apparent confusion between city and county jurisdiction.

McClung, who also serves as the Heyburn building inspector, commented "I'm going to have to get tough with some of these builders, particularly in Heyburn."

Clover Road oiled

FILER — Filer Highway District workmen are hauling gravel east of Filer in preparation for oiling part of the Clover Road.

The road which intersects the new highway 30 west of Filer was torn up last year and new gravel hauled at that time. More gravel is now being hauled and will be laid on it the end of this week or beginning of next week, according to

Harvey Maxson, director of the highway district. The new 24-foot oil mat will cover the Clover Road down to the Eddie Johnson corner. This fall the remaining portion of the Clover Road from the corner will be torn up three and a half miles south. The road will be widened and new culverts installed after which a new oil and gravel mat will be put on it. Maxson said that this method is the best possible with existing equipment. He said letters have been sent to residents on the road notifying them of the work to be done and asking for their cooperation.

A small section of the road north of Deadman's Corner also will be oiled soon, Maxson said. A year ago a bridge at the site was taken out, a 12 foot pipe installed and the road filled in and leveled.

Maxson said that this method

Food purchase record seen

By BERNARD BRENNER

(WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers will pump a record total of nearly $124 billion into the food industry this year, up 5.5 per cent or more from 1971, an Agriculture Department report indicates.

The forecast came from government specialists as part of a rosy-hued bundle of economic forecasts.

These included predictions that sales of producer and consumer goods will remain strong well into 1973, and consumer after-tax income will rise 7.5 per cent this year and "moderately faster" in 1973.

There was a comforting word even for the shoppers who have been grumbling about further increases in retail food prices this year.

The report said average retail food prices for 1972 probably would be about 4.5 per cent above 1971, accounting for most of the 5.5 per cent jump in total food spending. But most of this year's price increases may already be behind us, the report said.

"Some seasonal relief is expected in late summer and early fall from fresh fruits and vegetables, although potatoes may be much higher than a year earlier. More beef and a seasonal pickup in pork supplies should moderate retail red meat price increases toward the end of the year," the report said.

Economists said the average American consumer probably will buy and eat about the same amount of food in 1972 as he did last year. As a result, the 5.5 per cent increase forecast in total food spending this year will be built of only two factors — the 4.5 per cent gain in average food prices, and a further slight increase caused by another rise in national population.

On the farm, the new "Demand and Price Situation" summary from the agriculture department forecast gross income at a record of about $44.5 billion, up about $4.5 billion from last year. Net farm income for 1972 had been estimated earlier in the week at about $18.1 billion, another new record.

The bullish report, asserting the general economy has "warmed up this summer," said increases in the general price level have been slowed and "all signs point toward further economic expansion plus continued heavy consumer spending."

"Industry, spurred by larger corporate profits, will continue to improve and expand facilities and increase production," the report said. It added:

"The business upswing will also be aided by brisk state and local government outlays and large federal expenditures and transfer payments. The 20 per cent increase in social security benefits will add billions at an annual rate into the income stream beginning in October. And minimum wage increases, rising wage rates and growing employment should give consumers more money to spend for food and other goods."

LIL ABNER

TO-CORN-TRIBUTE 'ANICKER FO THIS WEEK'S SUPPLY O' BIRDSEED FO-YO'

IM INSULTED.

WHY IT'S REGULAR ORDINARY BIRDSEED.

IT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR REGULAR ORDINARY BIRDS, BUT NOT FOR ONE THAT CONTROLS AN ENTIRE COMMUNITY!!

TWASN'T EASY CORN-VININ' EVERY FAMILY IN DOGPATCH.

WHITE

Why isn't clear, but that car color least popular of all today is white, according to the market researchers. Few years back it was the most popular.

SAID THAT great

French painter Renoir

shortly before he died at 78: "What a pity I should have to go now

just when I was beginning to show promise!"

THE COMPUTER boys

nationwide has to work 2 hours 44 minutes to pay his dentist for pulling a tooth.

A CLIENT is romping on me for mispelling the word "banana." The criticism is uncalled for. Must have been a misprint. I know-how-to-spell-banana,

just don't always know when to stop.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Only one out of 10 souls killed by lightning gets hit in the morning. It's an afternoon tragedy, usually.

KEEP in mind also that more citizens go to zoos than to baseball games.

THE DOCTORS who make such tests claim human bones are just about twice as strong as hickory wood.

THE CORRECT phrase is "I couldn't care less." But pithier everybody now changes it to "I could care less." Peculiar. No complaint. Both make sense. But the meanings are opposite. It's like saying: "Money is the root of all." Or "Blondes have more." Or "Familiarity breeds contempt."

QUERIES

Q. Do the statistics know what proportion the first babies are conceived before marriage?

A. Just 21 per cent, they say.

Q. "WASN'T it Thackeray who said, 'Heaven will be no heaven to me if I do not meet my wife there'?"

A. No, Andy Jackson said that. Thackeray said, "Remember, it is no easy to marry a rich woman."

Q. "WHAT was a butterfly named before people invented butter?"

A. Flutterby. That's what it used to be called. However, butter was around before either word, sure enough.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find this day has so much activity in so many directions you have to stop and think now and then just what is happening to be able to bend your efforts with the tide of the day's events. Your best results come through using your fine mind and refusing to question charmers.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to get together with partners and work out new and better arrangements, but do not link your mate in any way. Regular routines can be made much more productive in the future. Adopt some modern ideas.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Think along lines of having far greater prosperity in the future and take the right steps now toward such end. Don't put your associate on the carpet. Get out and confer with bankers and business experts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Concentrate on whatever is of a personal nature today and get such matters out of the way quickly and satisfactorily. A part of day spent on making your appearance more attractive is wise. A more sensible outlook on life is important now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Analyze where it is best to direct your efforts and energy now so you can accomplish the most. Try to do something nice for one in trouble and something nice comes of this for you. Show you are a clever person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good friends are in the mood to do you big favors, so be sure you show you are appreciative. You have to tone down your temper, or you lose out on benefits. This can be a gala social evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do whatever will improve your position with bigwigs and the public in general, and do not forget that civic work you handle so well. Take care of that credit matter that has been bugging you. Reach right decision early.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have wonderful and practical ideas now that should be put to use for your advancement. Being analytical is important. Show others that you are a most capable person. Dress well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Being enthusiastic about the work you have to do brings the results you want and helps you be a perfectionist. Take the health treatments you need during spare time. Do not permit others to downgrade you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take the bugs out of any association matters or other dealings. Do not permit some public annoyance to disturb you, your equilibrium. Take time for real enjoyment with mate in p.m.

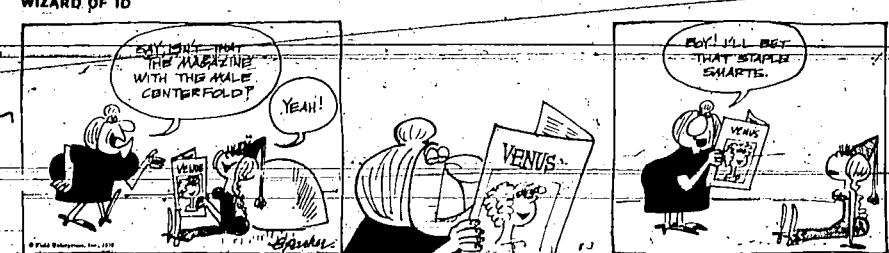

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Know what bigwigs expect of you and try to please them now, and you get the support you want easily from them. Add that new item to your wardrobe that makes you more attractive. Think constructively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get into the new kinds of recreations that appeal to you, so plan to do so with congenials, or make plans to do so later on. Show more affection for mate. This leads to far better understanding.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to what others have to suggest so you can have more harmony and happiness at home, and you cut down on delays, deliberations. Add new pieces to home that make it more charming. Improve the decor.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those very active young people who will require much attention early to avoid mischief, getting hurt, etc. Guidance is needed to place the fine energy in this chart in right channels. The field of calling would be ideal, whether male or female, and this can lead to great things, since there is much mental agility. Give as much education as your youngster will take.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Coast blaze raging

BIG SUR, Calif. (UPI) — An army of firefighters worked alongside hippie volunteers today to halt a spectacular coastal fire from burning downhill into nearly inaccessible wilderness.

A letup in strong winds kept the blaze "pretty static throughout the night," according to a Forest Service spokesman. He said the fire, had eaten through 3,500 acres of timber and brush.

Hippies fighting to save their rural homes pitched in to keep the fire from destroying stands of giant redwoods and buildings in Big Sur State Park.

A spokesman and the fire had turned northeast from the park today and was "burning downhill" into the Ventana Wilderness area" of the Los Padres National Forest.

Because of the rugged, steep terrain, firefighters had to move equipment and horses into the area by hand to set up a fire defense line.

Winds which fanned flames at 50 miles per hour Tuesday have died down to about 16 m.p.h. and are expected to remain calm, raising hopes the fire can be contained within two or three days.

Census reports median up

WASHINGTON, D. C. A majority of Americans over 25 — 52 per cent — reported in the 1970 census they had completed high school, according to a special report released by the Census Bureau.

Among young adults 18 to 24, most of whom would have recently finished high school, 73 per cent had their high school diplomas.

The report shows the median number of school years completed for all persons 25 and over was 12.1 years in 1970. This compares with 10.6 years in 1960 and 9.3 years in 1950.

Of the almost 110 million persons 25 and over on April 1, 1970, only 5 per cent had attended less than 5 years of elementary school.

Another 28 per cent had less than one year of high school, while 52 per cent had completed high school and 11 per cent had gone to college for four or more years.

Sergeant is year's recruiter

TWIN FALLS — S. Sgt. William H. Donnelly, Twin Falls, has been named Air Force Recruiter of the Year for Idaho, Utah, Montana, eastern Washington and eastern Oregon.

He competed with 40 other Air Force Recruiters in the five state area for the title.

Assigned to the Twin Falls Recruiting Office since 1969, Sgt. Donnelly has won 15 recruiting awards as a member of the largest Air Force recruiting detachment in the United States.

Captain Wayne D. Moss, commander of Detachment 608, with headquarters in Salt Lake City, said the honor goes to Sgt. Donnelly was inevitable. "By winning as many monthly and quarterly awards as he did, we really had no choice but to name him top recruiter of the year."

Donnelly enlisted in the Air Force in 1959, shortly after graduating from Twin Falls High School. He is married to the former Maryann Miller of Boise, and they have two children.

Sgt. Donnelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Donnelly, Twin Falls.

Regional primary takes first step

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The first step toward a western regional presidential primary election has been taken by officials of Hawaii, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

Following a full-day meeting Wednesday, the election officials adopted a proposal supporting a single primary in the five states in May of presidential election years. Each state would handle its own costs and the mechanics of the election.

The officials also adopted a statement opposing the winner take all primary system now in effect in California and Oregon which caused a major issue at the recent Democratic National Convention.

They also opposed a bill now before congress which would establish what they called an "unwieldy" western region composed of 13 states and Gunn for a primary.

Chief election officers of California and Alaska were also invited to the meeting but were unable to attend. The gathering was co-sponsored by Secretaries of State A. Judson Kramer of Washington and Clay Myers of Oregon. Other at the meeting were Lt. Gov. George Ariyoshi of Hawaii, Secretary of State John Koontz of Nevada and Ron Stephens, Idaho's assistant secretary of state.

Kramer called the meeting a "tremendous first step" toward the goal of a regional presidential primary by 1976. But he conceded that supporters of the system face a big job of selling the idea to governors and legislators.

Under the proposal, each candidate would receive a percentage of national delegates in each state equal to the candidate's percentage of the total vote cast for his political party.

Myers called the winner-take-all primary "undemocratic and unrepresentative."

Kramer said it was felt regional primaries throughout the nation would allow candidates to do more effective campaigning in one region at a time with more realized from each campaign dollar because much of the mass media cross state lines.

He said the state uses city and county dumps for disposing of garbage, tonnage, but added that this creates a problem in areas where there is a shortage of land fill.

Harvey said increases in tonnage have soared in recent years because of the "camper

Litter pickup expenses soar

BOISE (UPI) — The cost of garbage collection by the State Highway Department has jumped nearly $700,000 since 1966 and officials foresee great expenditure in the near future.

According to public information officer William W. Harvey, the department has become the largest garbage and trash collector in Idaho, and the operation is now costing taxpayers $243,275 annually.

"Needless to say, we sure could use the money somewhere else," Harvey said.

The garbage, including beer cans, wrappers, containers, pop bottles, paper and sundry forms of trash, is collected from 1,000 strategically placed litter cans along 5,000 miles of state highways.

Harvey said increases in tonnage have soared in recent years because of the "camper boom" in the state. He suggested that those using campers, especially from Idaho, should bag up their trash and garbage and deposit it when they return home. He said this would help to relieve the increasing load on the highway department's collection efforts.

The Highway Department has three garbage trucks in the Coeur d'Alene area. Garbage in the rest of the state is picked up by regular dump trucks.

"It creates a very big problem," Harvey said. "We have maintenance men who have been turned into part-time garbage collectors."

He said the state uses city and county dumps for disposing of garbage, tonnage, but added that this creates a problem in areas where there is a shortage of land fill.

Blackfoot boy drowns

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — John Rodriguez, 13, Blackfoot, drowned late Wednesday while swimming toward a raft at a city park here.

Blackfoot Police said the youngster was swimming toward a raft at Jensen Grove Park when he began splashing frantically and suddenly went under. By the time divers were able to pull the boy from the water he was dead.

She said the meeting will focus on the provisions of the fair practice code signed into law June 7 by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus among its provisions is a requirement that all state agencies hire and advance employees on the basis of individual merit, without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex or age.

Miss Grimes said Gov. Andrus will give an opening address to the day-long meeting. She added the public is invited to attend.

JOSEPH CARLSON
... attends camp

News Of Servicemen

ALBION — Cadet Joseph R. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carlson, Albion, has been attending Advance Reserve Officers Training Corps summer camp at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

A student at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, he took a leadership reaction course.

Census reports mobility

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Next to the automobile, and despite the availability of public transportation, the most popular way for Americans to get to work is to walk.

A new report issued by the Bureau of the Census, part of the U. S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration, also discusses population mobility and the status of veterans.

It shows that about 6.7 million persons reported on Census Day, 1970, that they regularly walked to work. However, 59.7 million others said they drove or rode in a car to their jobs. Another 4.2 million reported riding buses or street cars to work, 1.8 million rode subways or elevated commuter trains, 509,000 used railroad transportation, and 296,000 rode in taxicabs.

About 2.7 million luckier ones worked at home, the report said, while also pointing out that 75 per cent of the jobs and professions of all workers were located in the county in which they resided.

The report noted that even in central cities of urbanized areas where public transportation is most likely to be available, 69 per cent of the commuters reported that the private automobile — either as driver or passenger — was their means of transportation.
